SUBJECT: Partnership for Children's Health – Round 2 Catalytic Project

The Children and Families Commission of Orange County approved a feasibility analysis and implementation plan for developing a Partnership for Children's Health. The catalytic project is expected to attract national foundations and investors to support key Commission programs. A comprehensive update on the first phase of the Partnership for Children's Health project is included in Agenda Item 4.

Commission consultant Amy Fine will present findings on the strategic assessment and recommendations for next steps in developing the Partnership for Children's Health. In addition James McConnell, County of Orange's Washington D.C. legislative delegate, will provide insight into the national funding landscape.
